

BIG

feelings come and go

CANADIAN CENTRE for CHILD PROTECTION®
Helping families. Protecting children.

NEW DIRECTIONS

Big feelings come and go

Design and layout are © 2018 Canadian Centre for Child Protection Inc., and content is © 2018 Canadian Centre for Child Protection Inc. and New Directions for Children, Youth, Adults & Families. All rights reserved. No person is permitted to post an electronic version of all or any part of this publication. No copying, distribution or storage in a retrieval system except as set out below. Copies (in whole or in part, print or electronic) must not be made to generate revenue for any person at any time or for a commercial purpose. Parents/guardians may download and print one copy for personal use. For use beyond what is authorized above, send your request to: contact@protectchildren.ca

This book would not have been possible without the hard work and dedication of numerous individuals at both New Directions and the Canadian Centre. In particular, New Directions would like to acknowledge the contribution of Kate Kiernan and Billy Brodovsky, and the Canadian Centre would like to acknowledge its Education Team and Design Team who worked on this project.

CANADIAN CENTRE for CHILD PROTECTION®
Helping families. Protecting children.

The Canadian Centre for Child Protection Inc. (Canadian Centre) is a registered charity dedicated to the personal safety of all children. The Canadian Centre offers a number of programs, services and resources for Canadians to help them protect children and reduce their risk of victimization. For more information visit the Canadian Centre website at www.protectchildren.ca.

New Directions for Children, Youth, Adults & Families (New Directions) is a non-profit organization providing a combination of services that are responsive to the changing social, psychological, cultural, educational and vocational needs of people in their communities. We offer programming ranging from family counselling to resources for youth, job training to specialized living support, community treatment homes to foster care, and a variety of resources utilized by individuals with intellectual disabilities, the Deaf community and the Indigenous community. For more information visit www.newdirections.mb.ca.

For more information about children and trauma and how grown-ups can help, please visit www.makingsenseoftrauma.ca. There is a free webinar Making Sense of Trauma: Practical Tools for Responding to Children and Youth and additional resources available.

To order books visit www.protectchildren.ca/order.

CANADIAN CENTRE for CHILD PROTECTION is registered in Canada as a trademark of the Canadian Centre for Child Protection Inc. and the New Directions logo is the property of New Directions for Children, Youth, Adults & Families.

ISBN: 978-1-988809-40-3 (print version)

ISBN: 978-1-988809-77-9 (electronic version)

For everyone reading this book

Thanks so much for taking the time to read this story and learning about freeze, flight, and fight, our bodies' way of protecting us when our feelings get big.

Everyone gets big feelings, grown-ups and kids. Please take all the time you need to read this story. Read it all at once or a bit at a time. Pay attention to what works best for you.

Today we are going to learn about what our bodies do when we feel worried or scared and our feelings get big.

We have a part in our brain that is like an alarm called the amygdala.

It goes off by itself when we feel worried or scared.

It helps protect us.

We go into freeze, flight, or fight when the alarm in our brain goes off.

Sometimes we feel like we can't move or think.

That's called freeze.

Sometimes we feel like
we want to get away.

That's called flight.

And sometimes we feel like we want to hit and yell.

That's called fight.

We are going to learn and practice what to do when the amygdala sounds the alarm.

Grown-ups and kids all go into freeze, flight, or fight when they feel worried or scared.

This is how our bodies help us.

Let's imagine a dragon looking in the window!
Our brain sounds the alarm and we go into freeze...

Freeze is when our feelings get big and we can't run or fight.

Our heart beats faster and our breathing speeds up.

Everybody goes into freeze a little differently.

Imagine...what does freeze feel like for you?

I would feel like...

...my head
is floating

...my heart is beating faster and then so quiet
I can't hear it

...disappearing

...I am stuck

...making myself very little

...I am frozen

...I am invisible

...I can't get
my words out

We settle our bodies after feeling worried or scared.

Here is what we can do.

Look around and count three blue things in the room.

Take a breath in... and a long slow breath out.

Take another breath in... and a long slow breath out.

Notice if you are sitting on something hard or soft. Wiggle your toes.

Take one more breath in... and a long slow breath out.

Notice how your body feels as it settles.

Your heart and your breath slow down
as the alarm gets quieter.

Big feelings come and go,
like clouds floating by.

Now, this time when we imagine a dragon looking in the window, our brain sounds the alarm and we go into flight...

Flight is when our feelings get big and we want to move and even run away!

Our heart beats faster, our breathing speeds up and our legs might feel jumpy.

Everybody goes into flight a little differently.

Imagine...what does flight feel like for you?

I would feel like...

...I want to get far, far away

...I want to run
like a racehorse

...my heart is pounding like a drum

...jumping out of my skin

...I can't catch my breath

...I am dizzy

...talking as fast
as a runaway train

...I want to escape
as fast as I can

We settle our bodies after feeling worried or scared.

Here is what we can do.

First, curl your toes. Notice how the muscles in your legs tighten.

Let your toes relax.

Take a breath in... and a long slow breath out.

Now take another breath in...
and a long slow breath out.

Notice if you are sitting on something hard or soft. Wiggle your toes.

Take one more breath in...
and a long slow breath out.

Notice how your body feels as it settles.

Your heart and your breath slow down
as the alarm gets quieter.

Big feelings come and go,
like clouds floating by.

Again, this time when we imagine that dragon looking in the window, our brain sounds the alarm and we go into fight...

Fight is when our feelings get big and we want to make a fist or stomp our feet!

Our heart beats faster and our breathing speeds up.

Everybody goes into fight a little differently.

Imagine...what does fight feel like for you?

I would feel like...

...breathing fire

...I want to hammer something

...I'm as big as a giant

...I want to kick and stomp

...fighting
like a knight

...roaring like a lion

...I'm hot
like a volcano

...wrestling
like a gorilla

We settle our bodies after feeling worried or scared.

Here is what we can do.

Push your hands together like you are squishing a ball... breathe in... and then let go.

Now take a breath in...
and a long slow breath out.

Now take another breath in...
and a long slow breath out.

Notice if you are sitting on something hard or soft.
Wiggle your toes.

Take one more breath in...
and a long slow breath out.

Notice how your body feels as it settles.

Your heart and your breath slow down
as the alarm gets quieter.

Big feelings come and go,
like clouds floating by.

Look, there really is a dragon at the window!

I feel like...

...getting far, far away

...fighting
like a knight

...being invisible

...I can't get
my words out

...running
like a racehorse

...my head
is floating

...I'm hot
like a volcano

...I want to escape
as fast as I can

It's okay. It's a lost dragon.
The Dragon Keeper
will call its parents.

That was scary seeing the dragon outside the window.

Our bodies did what they needed to do.

Let's practice settling our bodies after feeling worried or scared.

Take a breath in... and a long slow breath out.

Take another breath in...
and a long slow breath out.

Notice if we are sitting on something hard or soft. Wiggle our toes.

Take one more breath in...
and a long slow breath out.

What does your body want to do now when you feel settled and safe?

I notice that I...

...laugh
like a monkey

...want to play

...can take a big breath

...am in charge of my feelings

...am curious like a detective

...am silly
with my friends

...want to learn

...can speak so people hear and understand my words

Aren't you proud you know how to settle your bodies and turn down the alarm?

We know we can manage our feelings when they get big.

Now let's go out and play!

